JUNE IS MEN'S HEALTH MONTH!

June is National Men's Health Month where communities come together to heighten the awareness of preventable health problems and encourage early detection and treatment of disease among men and boys alike. This awareness month gives health care providers, lawmakers, the media and individuals in the community an opportunity to encourage men and boys to seek regular medical advice and early treatment for disease and injury.

Physical ailments specific to men such as testicular cancer and prostate cancer take the main stage during this awareness month however issues that affect men also affect their wives, mothers, daughters and sisters, and therefore men's issues are also truly a family issue. Mental health, substance abuse and eating disorders also affect men and therefore their families; and many of these issues are not often talked about among men in the community due to stigma.
